

THE ESPERANTO TEACHER

A Complete Course for Non-Grammarians

By Helen Fryer

The international language Esperanto was first released to the world in 1887, when L. L. Zamenhof published his first book, “Dr. Esperanto’s International Language”. Since that time, many learning books have been developed to help the beginner attain a proficiency in the language. Helen Fryer’s “Esperanto Teacher” is one of the earliest of these attempts in English. Divided into 45 short and easy lessons and supplemented with sections on joining words, exclamations, compound words, arrangement of words in a sentence, words used with the object, the 16 rules of grammar and list of common useful expressions, as well as a number of translated texts for the new Esperantist to practice his/her skills, this book contains everything one needs to gain a proficiency in the language.

Cover illustration is the green star, symbol of the Esperanto movement. This image has been released into the public domain by its author, WinstonSmith, in 2008. This applies worldwide.

Cover design by Nicholas Bridgewater. This design is in the public domain and may be reproduced, distributed, or modified without permission.

Read by LibriVox volunteers. This recording is in the public domain and may be reproduced, distributed, or modified without permission. LibriVox volunteers record chapters of books in the public domain and release the audio files back onto the net. For more information or to volunteer, visit www.librivox.org.